WHAT IS CLASSACTION?

ClassAction is Godalming College's performance company. It aims to promote theatre for participants and for informed audiences. Our focus is on our young practitioners as artists and as collaborators, thinkers and learners creating work that is provoking, entertaining, popular, eclectic, anarchic, contradictory and diverse.

We want to be at the heart of our community here at Godalming College as well moving outside the college buildings into our wider community.

We want to celebrate the creative power of collaboration. We want to encourage the next generation of practitioners. We want new thinking, we want to push boundaries and above all we want to take risks. We want to lurch wildly between high art and populism - hopefully achieving both at the same time.

Production rehearsals are either integrated into student timetables, happen at lunch times or after college.

Please remember to put PAN on your enrolment form in September.

WHO IS CLASSACTION?

ClassAction is you, working alongside the tutors. Our production companies are managed by students working backstage and in production support roles. We do not hold auditions to join ClassAction, but there may be auditions for productions. Students with any level of experience are able to participate, whether you are interested in performing or technical/back-stage work. You do not need to be taking a Performing Arts/Drama A level to be involved.

We want performing arts activities to be enjoyed by our young practitioners as together they develop their performing skills. To continue this development we run a master class/workshop programme alongside our production seasons. Recent workshops have included:

ThickSkin Theatre | Frantic Assembly | GSA | Lost Watch Theatre | Central School of Speech and Drama | Mountview | St Mary's University | Idle Motion | Arts Ed | The Bridge Drama School | Guildford Fringe Theatre | Scene Productions | Les Enfants Terribles
